Granting credits or loans

DCCL may grant you credits or loans to allow you to carry out transactions in one or more Financial Instruments through DCCL including enabling you to short sell Financial Instruments. Requests from customers for the granting of a credit or loan are forwarded to the Credit department which is responsible for the collection of the necessary information.

Following the receipt of the relevant documents from the customer, these are assessed and the relevant credit application form is completed by the credit department. The Credit and loans department then transfers the customer's financial data to the Head of Risk management department and follows the process of credit assessment of the customer. The credit and loans department together with Risk management department review the guarantee/guarantee securities and other provisions given by the customer and in co-ordination with the Risk Management and Compliance /AML department assesses the risk involved and the exposure for DCC.

The Company monitors the relevant guarantee/guarantee securities of the client and assigned risk levels. The Company implements the dynamic risk level control approach, which is based on the control of value of provided guarantees/guarantee securities to the value of the whole market position of the client, created with the loan from the Company. In order to minimize possible credit and market risks a through guarantee/guarantee securities assessment process is implemented.

Guarantee/Guarantee securities assessment process is based on the valuation of assets provided by the client as guarantee under the number of quality and quantity parameters, among which such parameters as volatility, volume of trading and credit rating are used.

In the attempt to minimize possible future risks of the positions of the clients as well as risks faced by the Company, the company chooses the dynamic risk level control approach as the most appropriate to the nature, scale and complexity of the business activities. This system is based on the valuation of guarantees/guarantee securities provided to the whole position opened by the client with loan funds. The system has several levels of control and monitoring which are used for further actions when reached.

Risk levels are calculated under the following approach:

Risk level (%) = (Assets – Liabilities)/Assets x 100%, where:

Assets – money on the clients account, long securities/bonds positions

Liabilities – credit/loan granted

The risk levels are:

Initial level – the level of risk under which possible risks of the position opened are fully covered with guarantee provided (50% or more)

Warning level- the level of risk under which guarantee still covers possible risks faced by the position opened but may not be enough under certain market conditions. (40%)

Stop level – the level of risk, where the risks of the position are not fully covered by the guarantee provided and the position needs to be minimized or closed down (30% and less)

The levels of risk are closely monitored by the Head of Risk Management through the internal system of the Company. When Warning level is reached (40%), a notification is sent to the client by Credit and Loan department informing about the current state of the position, the increased level of risk and recommendation for further possible actions needed.

When Stop level is reached (30%), a notification is sent to the client informing about the current state of the position, the highly increased level of risk and recommendation for further immediate actions to be taken in order to minimize risks. Immediate action means reduction of the position, so its risk level is at least equal to 30%.

If no action is taken by the client at the level of 25%, the Company will take all necessary actions to minimize risks of the position including the reduction of risk through reduction of the position of the client under the conditions of Best execution.

For the purposes of safeguarding clients' rights in relation to financial instruments and funds belonging to them, for the purpose of risk minimization of clients' positions the Company will implement the principle of "asset freeze" – clients' fund and financial instruments will be "frozen" on the clients account (no action will be allowed with them) until the loan provided is fully repaid. Relevant technical arrangements are performed in the internal system of the Company. In case of the attempt of any action with "frozen" assets a notification will be sent to the Head of Risk management.

The loans provided by us in accordance with this paragraph shall bear interest at the rate determined by us at the time of the loan transaction subject to rates provided by banks and agents which we choose at our sole discretion (which are available upon request).

You acknowledge and consent that the loan will be fully payable at the date defined by us at our sole discretion. We reserve the right to submit the demand for the payment of the debt accrued accordingly at any time and you shall pay us such debt by the end of the business day on which we have submitted the demand. If you fail to comply with your obligations in accordance and on the dates specified hereunder we may liquidate your positions and/or sell the Custody Assets held in your account in the amount sufficient to settle your debts without prior notice.

Electronic Communications

We may wish to communicate electronically with each other. We each recognise the electronic transmission of information cannot be guaranteed to be secure or error free and such information could be intercepted, corrupted, lost or destroyed, arrive late or incomplete or otherwise be adversely affected or unsafe to use. Accordingly unless you notify us otherwise, we shall regard your acceptance of this Agreement as including your authorisation to our communicating with you and third parties on your behalf using electronic means. Each party agrees to use commercially reasonable procedures to check for the then most commonly known viruses before sending information electronically and to take responsibility for ensuring that an electronic communication is not misaddressed. Accordingly each party confirms that it accepts the risks of electronic communication and will be responsible for protecting its own interests in relation to electronic communications. Subject to the foregoing, no party shall have any liability to any other party on any basis, whether in contract, tort (including negligence), or otherwise, in respect of any error, damage, loss or omission arising from or in connection with the electronic communication of information between the parties or any third party on the other party's behalf.

Payment

You will pay to us (or to our order) or the relevant broker on demand by us or them such sums of money as may be required in or towards clearance of any debit balance on any of your accounts with us or them and any amounts due to us. We may charge you a commission in relation to transactions executed for your account, and such commission may be deducted at the time of the transaction or invoiced to you separately. Any commission deduction will be shown on the transaction confirmation sent to you. We may receive commissions from our brokers in relation to transactions executed for your account, in relation to orders which we pass to them on your behalf, in which case we shall disclose the basis for the payment of such commissions prior to agreeing to provide a Service to you and undertake to provide you with further details upon request.

Such non-core investment service as "Investment Research and financial analysis or other forms" will be charged on a separate basis under the provisions of the research agreement signed between us. No "Investment Research and financial analysis or other forms" commissions shall be included in execution/brokerage related commissions under any circumstance.

All your payments to us or any of our brokers hereunder shall be made in freely available transferable funds in such currency and to such bank account as the recipient may from time to time specify and without any deduction or withholding. If you are required by law to make any deduction or withholding then you will pay such amount as will result in the recipient receiving an amount equal to the full amount which would have been received had no such deduction or withholding been required.

Soft Commission Agreements

We do not have, and do not intend to enter into, any soft commission agreements.

Indemnity

You agree with us (on trust and as agent for our brokers) that:

- a) you will on demand indemnify us and each of our brokers (each, an "Indemnified Person") against any and all actions, claims, losses, liabilities (whether joint or several), damages, costs, charges and expenses which we or they may suffer or incur or which may be made or taken against us or them arising under, out of or in connection with the Services or the transaction to which the Services relate including any costs, charges and expenses (including legal fees and time costs of our relevant personnel, which shall be calculated on the basis of our standard time cost rates) involved in investigating, preparing for or defending the relevant claim and/or in establishing its right to be indemnified pursuant to this Term whether or not in connection with pending or threatened litigation in which we or any other Indemnified Person is a party provided that the same shall not have arisen from our or their negligence or willful default or the breach by us of our duties under this agreement and the CySEC Law and Directives which are in force for the time being in each case as finally determined by a court or other tribunal of competent jurisdiction from which there is no further appeal
- b) if the Cyprus Inland Revenue or any other taxing authority in any jurisdiction brings into charge to taxation any sum payable under the indemnity contained in this Term then (to the extent that the claim, loss, damage, cost, liability, charge or expense in respect of which the sum is payable is not allowable as a deduction for tax purposes against the sum so payable and in the same accounting period as that in which such sum is brought into charge to taxation) the sum so payable shall be grossed up by such amount as will ensure that after deduction of the taxation so chargeable there shall remain a sum equal to the amount that would otherwise be payable under such indemnity
- c) if any sum payable by you under the indemnity contained in this Term is required by law to be paid under any deduction or withholding for or on account of tax, you will, except to the extent that the deduction or withholding gives rise to credit, benefit or saving for the relevant Indemnified Person, pay such additional amount as shall be required to ensure that the net amount received by such Indemnified Person will equal the full amount which would have been received by it had no deduction or withholding for or on account of tax been made

- d) we shall have regard to (but not be bound to comply with) any reasonable request which you may make in relation to any relevant action or claim brought or made against us, subject to your indemnifying and securing us against any and all costs, charges and expenses incurred by it in complying with any such request; and
- e) this indemnity shall be in addition to any rights that we or any Indemnified Person may have at common law or otherwise including, but not limited to, any right of contribution.

Conflicts of Interests

- a) We draw your attention to the fact that if we provide services to you, or execute or recommend or arrange a transaction for you, we, or any of our brokers instructed by us on your behalf, or some other person connected with any of us, may have an interest, relationship or arrangement that is material in relation to the service concerned. You agree that we shall not be obliged to disclose the existence of any such situation or account to you for any profit.
- b) The Services that we provide to you under these Terms will be subject to our Conflicts of Interest Policy, a copy of which is available upon request. This policy governs the way in which we monitor our Services in the context of apparent conflicts of interest between you and DCCL or any of our broker, or other of our respective clients.
- c) When we execute or recommend a transaction to you or arrange a transaction for you, we, or our broker instructed by us on your behalf could be:
 - dealing as principal for our or its own account by selling the Financial Instruments concerned to you or buying it from you;
 - matching your transaction with that of another customer by acting on such customer's behalf as well as yours; and/or
 - buying Financial Instruments where such person is involved in a new issue, rights issue, takeover or similar transaction concerning that Financial Instrument.
- d) When we execute, introduce or recommend a transaction to you or arrange a transaction for you, we or one of our brokers instructed by us on your behalf could be providing corporate finance advice or services to any other person with regard to those transactions or the securities or instruments to which they relate, including without limitation the issuer, holder or owner of such securities or instruments.
- e) In the circumstances described at (d) and (e) above, we will inform you of any such interest of us, our broker to the extent that you are not already aware of it before we execute or arrange a transaction for you. However, we will have no obligation to obtain your consent to our or their interest in a transaction, whether or not it may conflict with yours or with the interests of other clients of ours or theirs, nor shall our interest preclude us or them from executing transactions in arranging for any Financial Instruments to be bought or sold on your behalf. In accordance with CySEC Law Circulars and Directives from time to time and are in force, we have established practices and procedures designed to ensure fairness in the way we treat our customers. In order to manage a particular conflict of interest, we are able to establish appropriate internal arrangements to ensure independence. Our employees and those of our brokers are required to comply with a policy of independence and disregard any material interest or conflict of interests when providing services to clients, if they arise. We may, if necessary, refuse to act for you in order to manage a particular conflict of interest.
- f) You expressly acknowledge and accept that we, any of our broker we instruct may have material interests and that any particular directors, officers and employees responsible for handling your affairs may do so and that we will take reasonable steps to manage any such conflict of interests which may arise.

Liability

We will use reasonable skill and care in the provision of the Services.

- On the basis that you are a Retail Client, nothing in these Terms will exclude or restrict any liability or duty we may have to you under the Law no.87(I)/2017 which provides for the provision of investment services, the exercise of investment activities, the operation of regulated markets and other related matters or the rules of the CySEC when supplying you with Investment Services.
- We do not accept any liability or responsibility for any act or omission of any third party (including without limitation, any broker, nominee or custodian in whose name your investments are registered).
- In no circumstances shall we be liable to pay any damages to you for losses arising out of or in any way connected with the provision of information to us by you or your failure to provide information to us either punctually or at all or any fraudulent act, misrepresentation or willful default on your part.

Legal Proceedings

Notwithstanding our liability for the acts and omissions of our employees acting in the course of their employment, you agree that you will only commence proceedings arising from or in connection with the provisions of the Services (or any variation or addition thereto) against us, and not against any of our employees personally.

Charges and Commissions

Our charges, together with any value added tax payable by you, shall be notified to you from time to time or will be agreed among us. Any amendment in our charges will be notified to you by sending you a written notice and such amendment will be effective 10 days after actual or deemed receipt unless you object in writing.

We or our brokers we instruct may share commissions with each other. We will provide you with details of any such commission sharing arrangements upon request.

Such non-core investment service as "Investment Research and financial analysis or other forms" will be charged on a separate basis under the provisions of the research agreement signed between us. No "Investment Research and financial analysis or other forms" commissions shall be included in execution/brokerage related commissions under any circumstance.

Custodians and Client Assets

All securities purchased by us, any of our brokers instructed by us and requiring registration will be registered in our name for the benefit of you or your client, or as you may request, in the name of a custodian appointed by you or such client. Neither we nor any of our brokers instructed by us will be responsible for supervising any such custodian or have any responsibility in respect of any such custodian's acts or omissions. Note that all custodians are regulated and authorised entities. Please also note that, in the case of omnibus accounts, separate records per client are held in DCCL's records.

Disclosure

We, or any of our brokers may from time to time be required to disclose to officials of exchanges or clearing houses or to regulatory authorities particulars of you and your dealings with us or them. To the extent permitted by law and if reasonably practicable, we will inform you prior to any disclosure being made.

Termination

This Agreement may be terminated by us or by you without penalty at any time and, except as otherwise provided in this Term, shall terminate immediately upon the giving of written notice to terminate by either party to the other party provided that termination:

- a) shall not affect the rights or liabilities of either of us or any of our brokers instructed by us in respect of transactions already initiated, including all open contracts, and you will be obliged to pay for such transactions initiated before notice of termination is received by us and a due proportion of any periodic payment for the Services provided hereunder;
- b) shall not prejudice any right of any person to all deposits and other sums held by such person and this Agreement shall continue to apply in respect of such transactions; and and assigns, provided that neither party may assign any of their rights and obligations under this Agreement without the other party's prior written consent.

No Waiver of Rights

Failure by either party to exercise, or delay by the either party in exercising, any of its respective rights under this Agreement shall not operate as a waiver of such party's rights.

Validity of Agreement

If any provision of this Agreement is held to be invalid, in whole or in part, such provision shall be deemed not to form part of the Agreement. In any event, the enforceability of the remainder of the Agreement will not be affected, provided always that if any such deletion substantially affects or alters the commercial basis of these Terms, the parties shall negotiate in good faith to amend and modify them as may be necessary or desirable in the circumstances.

Force Majeure

No party to the Agreement shall be liable for any failure or delay in performing any of its obligations under or pursuant to the Agreement, and any such failure or delay in performing its obligations will not constitute a breach of the Agreement, if such failure or delay is due to any cause whatsoever outside its reasonable control and it shall be entitled to a reasonable extension of the time for performing such obligations as a result of such cause. Events outside a party's reasonable control shall include without limitation: acts of God; any change to the law, order or regulation of a governmental, supranational or regulatory body; currency restrictions, devaluations and fluctuations; any act of terrorism; market conditions affecting the execution or settlement of transactions or the value of assets; failure or breakdown in communications not reasonably within the party's control; and the failure of any relevant stock exchange, securities trading facility or clearing house and shall include any event or circumstance that the party is unable, using reasonable skill and care, to avoid. Schedule C - Summary description of Best execution policy

Introduction

Dragon Capital (Cyprus) Limited ("DCCL"), is authorised by the Cyprus Securities & Exchange Commission ("CySEC") under number 112/10 to offer investment services.

The Markets in Financial Instruments Directive (Directive 2004/39/EC) ("MiFID") imposes a general obligation on DCCL, when providing services to clients, to act honestly, fairly and professionally in accordance with the best interests of its clients. More specifically, MiFID requires DCCL to maintain and operate an order execution policy in respect of orders it executes for its clients in order to ensure it takes reasonable steps to provide the best possible result for its clients.

The purpose of this document is to summarise the factors and processes that DCCL will apply to meet its order execution obligations and in particular how it will identify and utilise execution factors which it may take into account when executing orders.

This document is not intended to cover all eventualities and all circumstances that may be relevant to a particular order placed with DCCL. It is designed to serve as appropriate disclosure of the principles underpinning the order execution process that DCCL will follow for orders which a client instructs it to execute or to pass to other entities for execution.

Application

This policy applies to Retail/Professional Clients of DCCL. We are not obliged to provide best execution to you in the following cases:

- Where you are classified as an Eligible Counterparty
- Where your order concerns a specific class of Financial Instrument (as defined below) in respect of which we have agreed to your request to be treated as an Eligible Counterparty; and
- In line with our basic obligation to act in your best interests, where you have given us a specific instruction in relation to your entire order, or particular aspect of your order, in which case our obligation to provide best execution will be considered to be discharged by virtue of the fact we are following your instruction. While we will not solicit specific instructions from you, we may ask you to express a preference between identified potential execution venues, provided the use of those venues is consistent with this policy. In line with our terms of business, we will not provide you with advise in relation to any orders you propose to place with us.

Our obligations under this policy relate to relevant MiFID business we conduct in relation to orders for financial instruments listed in Annex I of the MiFID Directive (reproduced below as "Financial Instruments").

DCCL's relevant MiFID business is to provide execution services, to transmit and receive orders for execution in all types of Financial Instruments whether or not the relevant Financial Instruments are admitted to trading on a regulated market in an EU member state. A summary of our order execution process is set forth below.

Please note that provided we have obtained the relevant express consent from you, we may execute orders for Financial Instruments that are admitted to trading on a regulated market of an EU member state (a "Regulated Market") or a regulated multilateral trading facility ("MTF") outside a Regulated Market or MTF.

We may decline to act for you or accept your instructions in cases where we are unable to manage the risk of providing best execution to you for a specific transaction, e.g. due to unclear instructions, market conditions, or factors beyond our control. In such circumstances we shall inform you prior to accepting any instruction from you that we will be unable to provide best execution and provide you with a summary of the justification for this decision.

You will be deemed to have consented to this policy on the first occasion you instruct DCCL to execute any transaction in Financial Instruments.

Review and monitoring

DCCL's senior management and compliance function ("Compliance") will, on an annual basis, review this policy and the procedures and measures adopted to implement the same at an operational level. We will notify you of any changes or amendments to this document, which may be made from time to time at DCCL's absolute discretion

We will regularly monitor and review transactions we execute to verify compliance with this policy and whether or not the best result has been achieved for the client. Monitoring will take place in a manner which is tailored and proportional to the types of orders DCCL receives for execution.

Best Execution

The expression 'best execution' is not defined in MiFID or related legislation or regulations. It may be best described in line with the Committee of European Securities Regulators' guidance (the "CESR Guidance") as the requirement for investment firms to take all reasonable steps to obtain the best possible result for their clients, taking into account price, costs, speed, likelihood of execution and settlement, size, nature or any other consideration relevant to order execution.

The CESR Guidance describes the best execution requirement to be of a general and overarching nature. On this basis, investment firms are able to apply a certain degree of flexibility in setting relevant parameters for how they propose to achieve best execution for their clients. This document sets out how DCCL proposes to meet its best execution obligations bearing in mind the nature of its business and of its clients.

Execution Factors and Process

The order execution process is designed to provide our clients with the best overall result for executed orders rather than the best result in respect of each trade. A summary of DCCL's order execution process is included below.

Execution Venues and Order Passing

DCCL has identified execution venues that it believes consistently provide clients with the best possible result for the execution of their orders.

DCCL may pass orders for execution to the following brokers (as defined in our Terms of Business):

- Dragon Capital, Ltd (Ukraine)
- SOVA Capital Limited (London)

DCCL has arrangements in place that require our brokers to provide a level of best execution compatible with the best execution requirements under MiFID, although their approach to best execution may vary from this policy.

DCCL is able to execute orders for you on any of the following venues:

- Ukrainian Stock Exchange
- London stock exchange
- PFTS Stock Exchange
- Warsaw Stock Exchange
- OTC from own portfolio
- Off-exchange by matching client orders

DCCL will not structure or change its commission in such a way as to discriminate unfairly between execution venues. In particular, DCCL will keep differences in commissions under review in order to ensure that such payments due from the client are proportional to actual venue costs.

Limit Orders

Unless you expressly request us not to do so, if you instruct us with a limit order in respect of shares admitted to trading on a Regulated Market, other than a large scale order, and we do not execute this order immediately under prevailing market conditions, we will take measures to facilitate the earliest possible execution of your order by making your order publicly available to market participants via transmission to a Regulated Market or MTF that operates an order book trading system, or by some other means intended to make the order public and easily executable once market conditions allow.

Order Allocation

In accordance with our obligations under MiFID, we will endeavour to provide you with prompt, fair and expeditious execution for orders you place with us, relative to other orders from our client or proprietary trading interests of, our Brokers. In so doing, we will:

- accurately record and allocate orders we execute for you; and
- carry out comparable orders sequentially and promptly unless the characteristics of the order or prevailing market conditions make this impracticable, or your interests, as our client, require otherwise

Without further reference to you, we, or our brokers may combine your orders with ours or their own orders, with orders of persons connected with us or them, or with orders of other clients without further reference to you. However, we will only combine orders in this manner where it is unlikely that the aggregation of orders and transactions will work overall to your disadvantage.

Any aggregation of your orders may result in you obtaining on some occasions a more favourable price and on others a less favourable price than if your order had been executed separately.

We will aggregate orders in accordance with our internal Order Allocation Policy, which is designed to achieve a fair allocation of aggregated orders and transactions, including how the volume and price of orders determines allocations and the treatment of partial executions.

Where we aggregate your order with one or more other orders and your order is partially executed, we will allocate the related trades in accordance with our internal Order Allocation Policy.

Where your order is to be aggregated with our proprietary orders, or those of our brokers we will allocate trades to you in priority to our proprietary orders or those of our brokers, unless we are able to demonstrate on reasonable grounds that we would not have been able to carry out your order on such favourable terms without our aggregation, in which case we will allocate trades proportionally in accordance with our internal Order Allocation Policy.

We or our brokers may execute your order as a series of transactions at different times and apply the average price to such transactions.

Neither we nor our brokers will be responsible for any delays or inaccuracies in the transmission of orders or the execution thereof in either case due to any cause whatsoever beyond the reasonable control of such party.

Communications

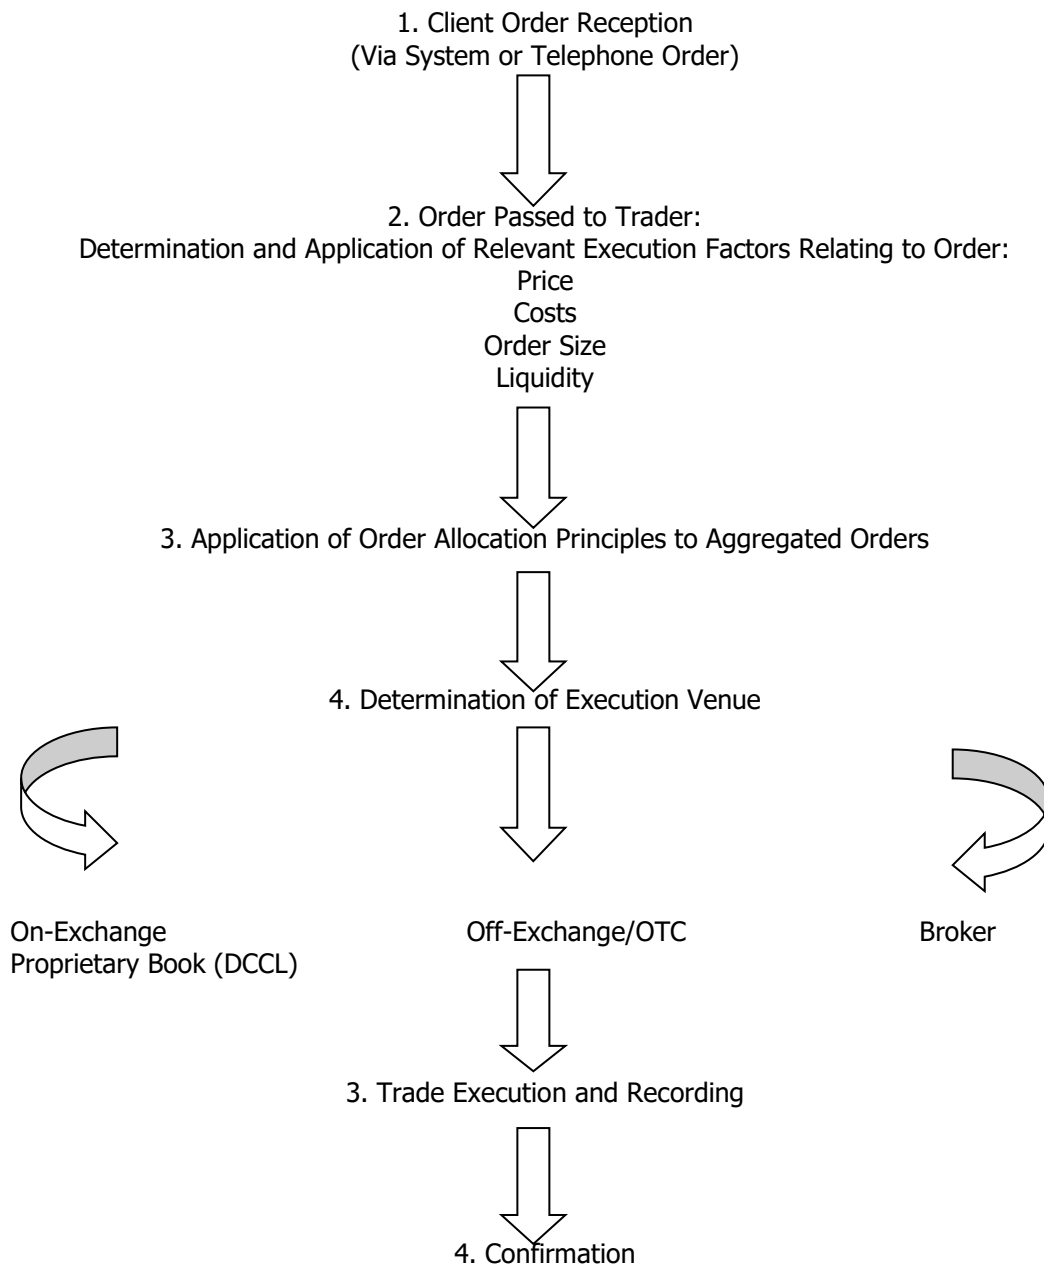

Should you believe that DCCL has failed to apply this policy to one of your orders, you may make a written request to us for an explanation of how we applied this policy to the order, including details of how we considered the factors listed in section 5 based on the information available to us at the time of the order. Summary Order Execution Process

Schedule D - Summary description of Conflicts of Interest Policy

Introduction

Dragon Capital (Cyprus) Limited ("DCCL") is authorised by the Cyprus Securities & Exchange Commission ("CySEC") under number 113/10 to offer investment services.

Pursuant to the Markets in Financial Instruments Directive (Directive 2004/39/EC) ("MiFID") DCCL is required to maintain and operate effective organisational and administrative arrangements with a view to taking all reasonable steps to identify, prevent, manage and/or disclose conflicts of interest.

DCCL has adopted a conflicts of interest policy which:

Identifies circumstances which may give rise to conflicts of interest including a material risk of damage to clients interest, and sets out mechanisms and systems to be adopted by DCCL in managing these conflicts This document describes in summary form the DCCL' conflicts of interest policy. If you would like further details of the conflicts of interest policy, please contact our Compliance team at Compliance.DCCL@dragon-capital.com or at 16 of June 1943 Street, building 9, office 202, Limassol, 3022 Cyprus.

Identified Conflicts of interest

Under MiFID, a conflict of interest will arise where there is a conflict:

- between the interests of a firm, certain persons connected to it or a member of the firm's group and a duty owed to a client; or
- between the differing interests of two or more of a firm's clients, to each of whom the firm owes a duty, where the conflict of interest might damage or adversely affect either of their respective interests.

DCCL has identified the following main types of conflict of interest applicable to them:

- Acting for own account when dealing with a client
- Conflicts in agency dealings
- Conflicts in dealing in any capacity
- Conflicts in relation to research
- Conflicts associated with holding confidential information
- Conflicts arising out of the group structure
- Conflicts arising out of the charges for fees and commissions
- Conflicts arising in relation to the giving or receipt of inducements
- Conflicts arising from personal account dealing and
- Conflicts arising from the aggregation of client orders

A record of the kinds of services and activities carried out by or on behalf of the DCCL in which a conflict of interest entailing a material risk of damage to the interests of one or more clients has arisen, or may arise, is maintained and regularly updated.

Procedures and Measures adopted to manage conflicts

DCCL adopts such of the following procedures and measures as it considers necessary and appropriate to ensure that, in relation to each identified conflict, DCCL acts with the requisite degree of independence and that the identified conflict does not give rise to a material risk of damage to the interests of its clients.

Confidential information and Chinese Walls

DCCL employees are under a general duty to respect the confidentiality of client information and not pass it on or use it inappropriately. In certain particularly sensitive areas, DCCL has adopted more specific procedures (commonly known as "Chinese walls") to prevent or control the exchange of information between relevant persons engaged in activities involving a risk of conflict of interest where the exchange of that information may harm the interests of one or more clients.

DCCL has implemented Chinese walls around the following business areas:

- Brokerage; and
- Proprietary trading;

Where appropriate, DCCL will also put in place Chinese walls between them and the business areas of other group companies that produce investment research.

Persons located within a Chinese wall are prohibited from inappropriately passing information to those outside the wall, except with the approval of DCCL's Compliance /AML Officer where it is appropriate to the service being provided to the client. Persons located outside a Chinese wall are not permitted access to information held within the Chinese wall, except in appropriate cases. On occasion, it may be appropriate for a person who is normally on the public side of the Chinese wall to cross to the private side. As a result of becoming subject to the Chinese wall, such person may be unable to continue to perform his normal functions.

Separate supervision

Where appropriate, persons whose principal functions involve carrying out activities on behalf of, or providing services to, clients whose interests may conflict, or who otherwise represent different interests that may conflict, including those of the firm, may be subject to separate supervision.

Remuneration policy

DCCL' remuneration policies seek to ensure the removal of any direct link between the remuneration of relevant persons principally engaged in one activity and the remuneration of, or revenues generated by, different relevant persons principally engaged in another activity, where a conflict of interest may arise in relation to those activities.

Inappropriate influence

DCCL has adopted a general policy that no employee may exert or threaten to exert inappropriate influence over another employee whether or not that other person works within the same business area and regardless of which DCCL the other person is employed by.

Segregation of function

Where appropriate, DCCL takes steps to prevent and control the simultaneous or sequential involvement of a relevant person in separate investment or ancillary services or activities where such involvement may impair the proper management of conflicts of interest.

Gifts, entertainment and inducements

Employees are prohibited from offering, giving, soliciting or accepting an inducement, gift or benefit if it is likely to materially conflict with any duty that the employee of DCCL owes to their clients. Relevant inducements include inducements received by DCCL or its employees from clients and third parties as well as inducements given by DCCL or its employees to employees to other DCCL's employees, clients and third parties.

Independence

The DCCL adopted a policy of independence which authorises and requires DCCL and its employees carrying on investment business to act in the best interests of the client at all times and to ignore any conflicting interest of DCCL or of the relevant employees to the extent that the same would conflict with such duty to the client.

Personal Account Dealing Policy

All employees of DCCL are subject to a personal account dealing policy, which imposes certain restrictions, approval procedures and reporting requirements in relation to personal account dealing. The personal account dealing policy requires employees to disclose all personal dealing and in some cases receive prior approval for personal account transactions. Employees are required to avoid any personal account transactions that may place them in conflict with the interests of either clients or DCCL.

Restricted lists

Where DCCL is providing services to a particular person (E.g. a proposed acquirer of a company) or in relation to a particular person (eg the company proposed to be acquired), it may be appropriate that dealings in securities issued by one or more of such persons be restricted.

DCCL maintains a restricted list. The restricted list provides the mechanism to communicate and apply any restrictions that may relate to certain business activities.

Except where DCCL receives an unsolicited agency order in securities on the restricted list, no member of staff may, either for the firm's DCCL account, a client's account or their own personal account deal in any security for the time being included in the restricted list.

Disclosure

Where the organisational or administrative arrangements made by DCCL to manage conflicts of interest are not sufficient to ensure, with reasonable confidence, that risks of damage to client interests will be prevented, DCCL will clearly disclose the general nature and/or sources of conflicts of interest to the client before undertaking business on its behalf.

Disclosure to clients will be made in a durable medium and include sufficient detail, taking into DCCL account the nature of the client, to enable that client to take an informed decision with respect to the service in the context of which the conflict of interest arises.

Declining to act

DCCL may decline to act where it believes that there is no other practicable way of ensuring that the client would be treated fairly.

Schedule E - Summary description of Risk declaration

The purpose of this Risk declaration is to provide you with guidance on the types of risk relevant to a range of investment products. The price or value of an investment realized depends on fluctuations in financial markets, which are outside of DCCL's control. You will appreciate that past performance of any investment does not provide an indicator of how well it will perform in the future. You may lose part/all of their money depending on the type of investment.

DCCL strongly recommends you to acquaint with the risks relevant to any investment you are contemplating.

You should fully understand:

- that investments are made at your own risk
- the need to carefully study all relevant information on the financial instrument in question and risks involved before trading in financial instruments
- the need to regularly monitor changes in the value of holdings of financial instruments
- the need to react by selling holdings if required in order to reduce the risk of losses on the client's own investments

Financial Instruments and Risks Involved

Shares

Shares represent an interest in the share capital of a company. Regarded from an economic point of view, the shareholder may consider himself the owner of a part of the capital of a business. Shares could become valueless in the event of bankruptcy of the company. Shareholders may qualify for dividend payments, but these are paid only at the discretion of the management of the company shares acquired. A shareholder's return from investing in shares derives from the market value of these shares at the time of sale. The market price is affected by supply and demand that, in turn, is affected by a range of factors that affect the market in which the company operates and factors in relation to the company itself. The risks of an investment could thus be rather diverse, depending on, amongst other things, the development of the Company's activities and the quality of its management.

Bonds

Bonds are debentures of a loan issued by a government or corporate institution. The entity (issuer) that has issued the bond will pay interest on the debt at a pre-defined rate and will redeem the nominal value on a date agreed upon (maturity date). Bonds may be issued with particular features in relation to interest payment, repayment, and special borrowing conditions. There are also bonds on which no interest is paid (zero coupon bonds). These bonds are issued at prices discounted to their nominal value, whereby the value realised is the difference between the price purchased and the nominal value redeemable at maturity. Bonds are traded at prices that may be above or below their nominal value, reflecting their relative attractiveness in relation to prevailing interest rates. Pricing of bonds can change from day to day and also reflect the creditworthiness of the issuer, which may change if a rating agency changes its view of the issuer's financial strength. A rating down grade may make the price of the bond fall. A bond investor is subject to the risk of default of the issuer and may get back little or none of the principle amount invested in the event of bankruptcy.

Futures & Forward Contracts

Futures and forward contracts have the same function, being a contract for the purchase or sale of an asset at an agreed price on a specific date. Futures contracts are exchange traded whilst forwards represent private contracts between two parties off exchange. Being exchange traded, futures are standardised contracts, whereby daily changes in value are settled each day (mark-to-market approach), whereas forward contracts are bespoke between the two contracting parties and settled only at maturity. Both futures and forwards entail market and credit risk, though the credit risk is greater on forward contracts, since it represents exposure to the other party, not to that of an exchange clearing house and does not benefit from daily settlement. Transactions in futures involve the obligation to make, or to take, delivery of the underlying asset of the contract at a future date, or in some cases to settle the position with cash. They carry a high degree of risk. The 'gearing' or 'leverage' often obtainable in futures trading means that a small margin payment can lead to large losses as well as gains. It also means that a relatively small market movement can lead to a proportionately larger movement in the value of your investment, and this can work against you as well as for you.

Leveraged Investment Products

Typically, these products provide investment in underlying assets such as shares, indices and currency, whereby the issuer of the product provides leverage by providing the investor additional capital for investment. This loan element in the investment is subject to a finance cost that is paid by the investor to the issuer. These products are offered with varying degrees of leverage and follow either a long or a short investment strategy. The nature of this investment allows the investor to realise greater returns in a rising market than would otherwise be realised by investing without leverage, though losses are also magnified in a falling market. Generally, these products incorporate a stop loss mechanism so that the investor is not liable to pay additional capital, except for the financing costs, though could lose the entire investment. Where the assets invested are in a currency different to the investor's base currency there is also a risk of losses due to currency exchange rate movements. These products are, generally, only suitable for experienced investors who would like the opportunity to benefit from short term movements in financial markets.

Receiving credit or loans for the purchase of transfereable securities

Purchase of transferable securities with financial assets received from the Company is associated with higher risks due to the nature of such operations. The number of risks associated with such transactions include market risk, exchange rate risk, settlement risk and risk of increase of interest rate associated with credit or loan

Investment in Emerging/Third Country Markets

Emerging/Third Country markets may be regarded as countries that possess one or more of the following characteristics:

- certain degree of political instability;
- relatively unpredictable financial markets and economic growth patterns;
- financial market that is still at the development stage;
- weak economy.

When investing in emerging/third country markets, there is a greater emphasis to particular types of risk not generally encountered in more developed markets. The following is an outline of such risks.

Political Risk

A government's political inexperience or instability in the political system of the country may increase the risk of short-term fundamental shifts in the country's economy and politics. The consequences for an investor can include the confiscation of your assets with no compensation, the restriction of your rights of disposal over your assets, or a dramatic fall in their value.

Economic Risk

Emerging/Third Country market economies are more sensitive to changes in interest and inflation rates, which are in any case subject to greater swings than in developed countries. The focus of such economies is often relatively narrow, allowing single events to have a magnified impact.

Credit Risk

Investments in debt paper (e.g. bonds, notes) issued by emerging/third country market governments or companies tend to entail much higher levels of risk than established market debt. This can be due to inferior creditworthiness, a high level of government debt or a lack of market transparency.

Exchange Rate Risk

The currencies of emerging market countries are subject to major, unpredictable swings in value. Hedging can help limit losses resulting from currency-swings, but they can never be entirely eliminated.

Market Risk

The lack of sophistication in monitoring their financial markets can result in poor levels of market transparency, liquidity, efficiency and regulation in emerging/third country market countries.

Legal Risk

In emerging markets there tends to be less government supervision and regulation of business and industry practices. The development of a legal infrastructure may not be well developed and recognition of private ownership may not be strongly upheld in comparison to developed countries.

Settlement Risk

Emerging/Third Country markets may have an array of different clearing and settlement systems, or none at all. These are often outmoded and prone to processing errors, as well as considerable delays in settlement and delivery.
